

Teaching Academic Writing in English

INT

Working with academic writing in English is a cognitively demanding task for both student and lecturer. This course will develop your understanding and give you new strategies for dealing with student academic written output.

Lecturer: Mark Searle

Contents:

- Academic writing in English: composition as a process and the constraints on the writer, language and academic literacy
- Helping learners with academic writing: pre-writing interventions and tasks, writing as a collaborative process
- Dealing with learners' academic written output: corrective feedback, developmental activities for learner writing

Outcomes:

- A better understanding for learners' academic writing
- New tools and techniques for developing academic writing
- New tools and techniques for written corrective feedback

Methods:

- Theoretical input
- Hands-on tasks
- Using online resources
- Moderated discussion

Termine und Informationen:

Datum: Do./Fr., 22./23. Juni 2017, 9–17 Uhr s. t.

Ort: Seminarraum BZHL, Fraunhoferstraße 33–36, 10587 Berlin